Mansfield Teachers to Ration Sugar British Guns Blast At Jap Attack Boats

WAIT ORDERS TO ALLOCATE FAMILY CARDS

City and County Officials Expect Instructions Soon To Set Up Plan.

STARTS IN 3 WEEKS

Faculty Members to Register Consumers, Issue Booklets For Allotments.

The nation's sugar rationing program, expected to go into operation within the next three weeks, will be placed in the hands of school teachers on a neighborhood basis, it was announced today in Washington.

Mansfield and Richland county school heads, Supt. W. L. Miller of the city schools and County Supt. Boyd Robinson, were awaiting instructions from Washington relative to the program before calling their teachers into meetings to set up the rationing plan.

"I know nothing of the plan to enlist the help of teachers until this morning, and so far have received no information about what the teachers will be asked to do," Supt. Miller said.

Under the plan, school teachers will be charged with registering consumers and will be required to obtain a signed statement on the amount of sugar they have at home.

If it exceeds two pounds for each member of the family, the registrar will tear stamps from the "hoarder's" booklets equivalent to the excess amount, thus depriving him of the right to purchase sugar until his accumulated stocks are used up.

Henderson said the program will be instituted as soon as the stamp booklets, the first of their kind to be issued since the war began, have been printed and distributed to every man, woman and child in the nation.

Each book will contain 28 stamps, each one good for a (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Change In Time Puzzle to City, County Employees

With the change to war time— one hour earlier than standard time—only two days away, employees of the city and county are having a difficult time trying to get adjusted to the change.

Nearly every department head has had his employees besieged with a barrage of questions about the new work schedule. Some want to know if they should report an hour earlier while others want to know if it's an hour later.

Except for a few departments whose employees do outside work which cannot be done until the sun is up, all city and county employees will switch over to the new war time.

All offices will continue to open at 8 a. m., but it will be 8 a. m. war time instead of standard time. Workers in the street and (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Collision Sinks U. S. Sub; 35 Feared Lost

(By International News Service)

BALBOA, C. Z.—The navy department today announced the loss of the United States submarine S-26 "at sea" on Jan. 24 following a collision with an escorting naval vessel.

The submarine was coming to the surface when it collided with the escorting vessel, it was indicated.

Three members of the crew were saved. The S-26 is the first United States submarine known to have been sunk since the beginning of the war.

The United States S-20-41 class of submarines, built between 1918 and 1922, is a type that normally carries about 38 officers and men, indicating a loss of perhaps 35 men. The craft are of 1,062 tons displacement and are 219 feet long.

According to the navy announcement, the three survivors were thrown clear of the bridge by the collision. The submarine quickly sank in 301 feet of water. It was located on Jan. 29, after officers and crew members shot a buoy through the torpedo tubes.

The buoy floated to the surface and informed rescuers that the officers and crew members were in the central operating compartment.

Authorities declared that they now could discern no signs of life, and that "salvage operations are continuing but hope has been abandoned."

The three survivors were the captain of the submarine, Lieut. Commander Earle C. Hawk, of Saugey, N. Y.; Lieut. Robert M. Ward, of Antioch, Calif., and First Class Seaman Joe B. Hurst, of Ada, Okla.

Naval authorities said the list of casualties would not be announced until the next of kin had been notified.

Announces 20 Stations for 20-45 Draftee Registration

Twenty registration places for Richland county men from 20 to 45 years old were set up today by the county's three selective service boards in preparation for the third registration of men for military service on Feb. 14, 15 and 16.

Men in the Board 1 district in Mansfield, covering the western half of the city, will have five places to register. Board 2, serving the eastern half of the city and all of Madison township, set up seven registration places, and Board 3 will have registrants in eight communities, seven of them outside Mansfield.

All the registration places will be open from noon until 6 p. m. Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 14 and 15, and all day Monday, Feb. 16. Men who previously registered for military service will not be required to register again, board clerks emphasized.

Here are the registration places in Mansfield and Richland county: Board 1—Local board headquarters at 603 Farmers Bank building; American Legion home, Park avenue west; Prospect Park pavilion; Brinkerhoff school, Marion avenue; Johns Park pavilion. Board 2—DeLano lodge hall, Bowman street, for Madison township men, Newmans school, Newmans street, for Madison township and Fifth ward in Mansfield; Sons of Herman hall, Orange street, for Madison township and Fifth ward; Madison township high school, or Madison township east of the city; Hedges school, for Fifth and Sixth wards; No. 3 fire station on Chestnut street, for Sixth ward and the city; local board office on north floor of the Richland township building, for Madison township west of the city.

The army's Hawaiian department and Admiral Kimmel, the Pacific fleet commander, have been without assignment since they were ordered relieved from their posts by President Roosevelt 10 days after the surprise air raid on the Pacific outpost.

Both were charged with "dereliction of duty" in the report of the Roberts commission which investigated the attack.

Baby Born After Death of Mother Still 'Doing Well'

A baby born at the Ashland Samaritan hospital yesterday, five minutes after his mother died of a heart attack, was reported to be in "good" condition today by hospital attendants.

The baby, weighing six pounds and four ounces was born in a post-mortem Caesarian delivery. His mother, Mrs. Juanita Elizabeth Miller Fast, 40, wife of Harold C. Fast, Ashland, had expired a few minutes before while being prepared for the operation, according to hospital reports.

Mrs. Fast was born in Nova on May 10, 1901. For the past five years, she and Mr. Fast had been managing the Ashland Country club. She was a member of the Nova United Brethren church and the Daughters of America.

Survivors besides her husband and son are a sister, Mrs. Beryl Crumrine, Ashland; a brother, C. F. Miller, Columbus; and her mother, Mrs. Ota Miller, Nova.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the 1 p. m. at the Denbow-Bear funeral home and at 3 p. m. at the Nova United Brethren church with Rev. P. W. Kirk, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Nova cemetery.

DEBATE RAGES AROUND OGD 'PLUM' JOBS

Congressmen Attack First Lady's Appointments Of '38 Friends.'

RIPS HIGH SALARIES

Approve Amendment to Bar 'Dancers, Fan Dancers And Street Shows.'

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON—The bitterest congressional storm in many months raged unabated today over Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's volunteer participation section of the Office of Civilian Defense, threatening to delay an appropriation of $100,000,000 for the OCD.

Developments after administration leadership forced adjournment of a rebellious house which thunderously approved an amendment to prohibit use of OCD funds for activities of "dancers, fan dancers and street shows," were summed up as follows:

1. Rep. Leland Ford (R., Cal.) who started it all with a vigorous verbal blast at Melvyn Douglas, movie star, who was appointed to OCD at a salary rate of $8,000 a year, charged that "a small coterie of 38 selected social friends of Mrs. Roosevelt's are getting $163,000 a year—enough to buy a good fighting airplane."

2. Rep. Hoffman (R., Mich.) who followed Ford's barrage by assailing appointment of dancer Mayris Chaney to a $4,000-a-year OCD post, said he was "still waiting" for contribution to his "bundes for Eleanor" campaign which he inaugurated "to aid the idle rich."

3. Rep. Taber (R., N. Y.) who demanded removal from Washington of a long list of what he called "parasites," including Mrs. Ernest Lindley, wife of a columnist on (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

DELAYED WEEK

N-J Stamp Salesmen Will Be Honored Next Saturday.

Inclement weather which has put a damper on many activities during the past week, today caused the postponement for one week of the presentation of U. S. government service bars to 75 News-Journal carrier boys, cited for their work in boosting the sale of defense stamps and bonds in Mansfield.

The carrier boys were scheduled to get their service awards at 12:30 p. m. today in an outdoor ceremony on the steps of the Mansfield postoffice building with parents and relatives looking on. The ceremony will take place next Saturday at 12:30 p. m.

Having sold $10,880 worth of defense bonds and stamps already, the boys went out for their third collection today, hoping to bring their record above the $15,000 mark.

WARNS U. S. ON WAR PROGRESS

WPB Official Cites Steady Jap Advance, Immediate Need For Weapons.

(By International News Service) NEW YORK—A pessimistic picture of the progress of the United States at war was presented today by William L. Batt, director of materials for the war production board.

"Not since the days of the revolution have we ever had much of a chance to lose a war," Batt said bluntly. "We have a chance to lose this one."

Batt warned that some of the facilities of the automobile industry now being converted to war production will not turn out a weapon for "six months, for nine months, for a year."

"Weapons produced a year from now will not help us hold the outpost now under siege," he said. "Only weapons produced tomorrow can help us."

"It seems to me that too much attention is being paid to minor air engagements in which American fliers down two Japanese planes and lose one, and not enough attention is being paid to the enemy's steady progress toward our vital outposts."

"This is no time for self-hypnotism. We're big. We're strong. We're tough. But so is the other fellow. He caught us off guard once and he's sparring around now, doing a little infighting, waiting for us to get careless or to get cocky and turn around and wave to the audience."

"Let's not be grandstanders. This fellow can hurt us and hurt us badly. And he has a plan. You can be sure that he knows just how he is going to try to catch us."

TEACHERS AT BUTLER BACK SUPT. WEEKLEY

Issue Statement to Clear Up 'Misunderstanding' About Faculty Resignations.

'GOT BETTER JOBS'

Claim Suspended School Head 'Efficient'; Board Will Meet Tonight.

With the Butler village board of education scheduled to meet tonight to determine the next step in clearing up the dispute that led to a pupil "walk-out" and closing of the school yesterday, 11 of the school's teachers made public today a statement which they said was intended to help correct a "misunderstanding" and to make known their support of Supt. Willard S. Weekley.

Walter McAuley, spokesman for the teachers, said the "misunderstanding" concerned the belief of many persons in the Butler community that two teachers who resigned recently did so because they did not like to work with Supt. Weekley, suspended for 10 days by the school board.

The teachers' statement, which also was presented to the board Wednesday night, said:

"The two teachers who have resigned this year had secured better positions with better pay, which is probably the answer to their leaving and not Mr. Weekley or a change in the board of education, which has also been 'aired around.'"

"We feel that Mr. Weekley has been a very efficient administrator and has conducted himself in our presence in such a manner that there has been no occasion for us to suspect him of any misconduct."

The teachers who resigned were Merrill Hall, basketball coach, and (Continued on Page 10, Col. 8)

CALLS RESERVES

FDR Orders All Units Not on Duty Into Active Service.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt issued an executive order today calling into the active military service all organized reserve units of the army not already on active duty.

The orders said the effective dates for calling these units would be announced later by the secretary of war. Like those already ordered to active service, these units will serve for the duration of the war and for six months after its termination, subject to earlier relief or discharge.

Units not already in active fighting service were not detailed in the order.

CANTON—(AP)—Three Stark county common pleas judges today were to decide the fate of Buford Ray Doney charged with the slaying of his 23-year-old daughter, Miss Almeda B. Whitmer, because she refused to reveal her mother, Mrs. Jeannette Doney, had left her home to seek work.

After the closing argument, in which Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelme demanded the death penalty, the judges retired to deliberate Doney's fate.

Two hours later they returned to the court room, which was still packed with interested spectators, and announced they would resume deliberation today.

British Guns Blast At Jap Attack Boats

Explosives Rain on Outskirts of City and On Invasion Fleet Across Johore Strait; Barrage Silences Foe Battery.

(By United Press)

SINGAPORE—Japanese siege guns opened a bombardment of residential areas of Singapore city today as British big guns shelled native river boats which the Japanese are assembling on the Johore shore for a direct attack on the island.

The Japanese bombardment, which brought shells crashing down on homes in the outskirts of the city, opened this morning and is still going on as this dispatch is filed at 10:20 a. m. (10:20 p. m. Friday).

A communique of the Singapore command, noting that "there has been some shelling of residential areas of Singapore," revealed also that the British guns had opened a bombardment of the sampans, the open native boats which ply rivers throughout the Far East, assembling on the Johore shore of the narrow strait.

It had been reported persistently that the Japanese had started to assemble an invasion fleet of small craft, in which the sampans would play a big part, soon after the imperial retirement to this island one week ago today.

The British batteries also silenced a Japanese battery in the course of their steady fire on all Japanese positions, concentrations and road columns on the Johore side, the communique said.

Japanese guns steadily intensifying their bombardment of the north side of Singapore island opposite the mainland, caused some damage but few casualties, the communique said.

British fighter planes of the Far Eastern command intercepted Japanese planes, which raided the island and destroyed one enemy plane, probably destroyed another, and damaged two without loss to themselves, the communique said. It was admitted that some damage was done.

During yesterday's Japanese raids, the communique said, British planes shot down one Japanese army-97 two-motored bomber and one single-motor bomber.

The opening of Japanese gunfire, at ranges of 10 or more miles, on Singapore brought every man, woman and child of this great city, one of the most cosmopolitan in the world, into the front lines.

It was assumed that the Japanese had moved up guns of formidable caliber and range to hidden emplacements on the Johore shore to send their deadly missiles to the fringe of this city which contains most of the island's 751,000 people in its teeming native quarters.

Petitions were forwarded by civilian groups to Gov. Sir Shenton Thomas asking him to raise immediately a people's army of from 50,000 to 100,000 men to aid the defense forces in repelling a Japanese attack which now seemed imminent.

It is understood that the Chinese colony, which numbers 584,000 of the island's 751,000 people, was ready to provide thousands of able bodied men, many with military experience, who were ready to take their places at the front.

DESTRUCTION: Dutch Bag 2 Ships; Japs Spreading Hold

(By International News Service)

BATAVIA—The Netherlands Indies high command today announced destruction of an enemy cruiser and transport and hits on a second cruiser and submarine, but conceded that most of Ambon island, site of the strategic Ambon naval base, is under Japanese control.

The war communique also reported a new bombing raid on the great Soerabaya naval base but indicated damage was not serious.

A supplementary announcement categorically denied Japanese claims, circulated yesterday, that the N. E. I. naval fleet had been totally destroyed.

The Ambon base is the second most powerful naval base in the Netherlands Indies, ranking only below the Soerabaya base, which now has experienced three Japanese air attacks.

A war communique said the greater part of Ambon island is "practically in Japanese hands." Ambon, in the Moluccan sea between Celebes and New Guinea, is the fifth Netherlands Indies point to be occupied since the start of the invasion on Jan. 1.

Today's communique admitted that Pontianak, capital of Dutch West Borneo, has been "completely occupied." Previously the Japanese took Tarakan island off the east coast of Borneo, the East Borneo port of Balikpapan, the Menado region of North Celebes and the Rendani area of southeast Celebes.

The communique stated: "On Feb. 6 naval aircraft attacked a large enemy transport ship off Borneo's west coast. A (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

BATTLE: U. S. Planes Fight In Bali; Japs Shell Manila Forts

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—American pursuit planes have come into action in a new war theater—the tourist-famed island of Bali—while the Japanese have opened an artillery assault on American-held island forts in Manila bay and on Gen. MacArthur's lines in Batan peninsula, the war department disclosed today.

A squadron of eight American P-40 pursuit planes was attacked by a "greatly superior" force of Japanese fighters and bombers near Bali, an island which lies east of Java and is noted for its beautiful women. The American planes shot down at least three of the enemy craft. One American plane was destroyed and another is missing.

Meantime American-held forts Mills, Drumm and Hughes in Manila bay were subjected to a three-hour artillery barrage, but suffered "no material damage," Fort Mills is on the stronghold of Corregidor. The other two forts are on smaller islands in the bay. Most of the fire, the communique said, was concentrated on Fort Drumm.

Heavy enemy artillery fire also was reported against MacArthur's lines in Batan.

The department's communique No. 95, detailing reports received up to 9:30 a. m. today, said the island forts returned the enemy fire "with undetermined results."

The department said yesterday that our big guns on the islands had destroyed Japanese artillery emplacements on the southeastern shore of Manila bay but today's communique indicated some of the enemy guns had remained standing, for the new enemy fire came from that direction.

GEN. JOHNSON: Mud Glacier Hits San Francisco Homes

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON
NEW YORK—There happened recently a domestic event which, because of the hurricane of other earth-shaking news, passed with very little comment. It was the choice by each of two great amalgamations of international labor unions—AFL and CIO of a committee or panel of three each to meet and settle disputes between them by majority vote if possible. It almost never is.

Boards composed of an equal number of representatives of hotly divergent interests usually split evenly. Therefore they have to have an odd member with a deciding vote. Disregarding the wisdom of electing boards and conferences, the practical effect of this is to pass both groups, putting decisions pretty thoroughly in one-man control of the odd member—at least on disrupted points between the groups.

In this case the odd member is very odd indeed, at least so far as traditional labor precedent is concerned. For he happens to be none other than the president of the United States.

Thus, to some extent at least, one of two things has happened—either the free labor movement has taken over the political government of the United States or the political government has taken over the free labor movement.

The former alternative might sound absurd if it were not that each one of these labor groups claims upwards of four million members representing forty to fifty million voters which is a right smart mess of voters in any man's book, even if they don't always follow labor leadership in voting.

But it is the former interpretation—

tion—that government has taken the last word in labor control—that is most logical and likely.

Now that, to a much greater degree, is exactly what happened to labor organizations in both Germany and Russia and it is exactly what was never to happen here according to rule number one in labor's book of golden precepts. Both the Russian and the German revolutions started out as more militant labor movements.

But, in both cases, the great labor leaders turned out to be like Huey Long's "scrooch"—not "screech"—owl to Huey Long's hen. It cuddled up silently in a cold dark night to Huey's hen on the warm roost and kept scrooching over and scrooching over until "poity soon there warn't no hen."

This scrooching up has gone nowhere near as far as that but it is a record-breaking precedent. Also everybody knows that it was intended, in the first instance far more as a very clever move to circumvent John Lewis and take away from him the great CIO organization which he invented and built than as a move to cement and strengthen personal political power.

Just the same the fateful move was made and the result—unexpected and unprecedented in this country, stands. Direction of organized labor, at least on matters where neither half can agree with the other by a majority vote of that half, now will have its doubts resolved for it by the all-powerful voice of a single man.

Labor has always, perhaps not always with sufficient reason, boasted of its own democracy of self-government. At least half of it—either half as circumstances may appear—can't honestly make that boast any more. It has chosen for itself a very astute and charming czar.

And so, in another aspect of our war to save democracy we have given up democracy on almost exactly the formula of the totalitarian states.

TANKER TRIES TO RAM SUB IN COAST WATERS

Ship's Captain Tells About Pursuing Craft For Forty-five Minutes.

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK—An attempt by a huge unarmed tanker to ram an enemy submarine off Cape Hatteras was revealed today by Captain Einar Gleditsch, master of the ship.

Captain Gleditsch, speaking with permission of the navy department, said his ship, the Kosmos II, a former whaler, chased the submarine for forty-five minutes but that the U-boat finally escaped.

First warning that a submarine was in the vicinity was received by the Kosmos at 6 a. m. January 19, Captain Gleditsch said, when the radio picked up an "SOS" distress signal.

"You know that we have orders that when a ship is attacked we can't help her. We must go away from the attack.

"I saw the track (wake) of a submarine cutting across our course. It was then that we decided to go for him. The submarine tried to dive, then came up. We saw his bow and the conning tower was two or three feet above water. She was only about 300 feet away. The submarine zigzagging. We followed as best we could.

"Well we followed her for three quarters of an hour. Meanwhile I sent a radio message ashore and got answers from Europe and other places. Finally I was afraid she was leading us to another sub so I returned to our regular course."

Captain Gleditsch said a plane took up the hunt for the sub after he had been forced to turn away.

LOSE HOPE FOR SURVIVORS
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., (U.P.)—Hope for rescue of 26 missing crew members of the torpedoed tanker India Arrow diminished today.

Eleven crewmen and Capt. Carl S. Johnson, who were brought here early yesterday by a fishing boat after drifting 34 hours in an open lifeboat almost within sight of land, left the coast guard station here for New York today.

The India Arrow, owned by the Socony-Vacuum Oil company was torpedoed and shelled approximately 35 miles southeast of Atlantic City Wednesday night. The survivors were picked up in the one lifeboat launched from the sinking ship.

STORMS KILL 18
Tornado Winds Sweep Across Southern States.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(U.S.)—A death toll of at least 18 persons today was feared likely to prove heavy as relief agencies supplied food and shelter to hundreds of Southland families in the wake of tornado winds.

The winds, which in some cases reached 100-mile-an-hour intensity, revolved buildings and uprooted trees over a patchwork area including parts of Georgia, Arkansas, Alabama and Mississippi. Tennessee also had high winds, but reported no deaths.

Georgia paid the heaviest toll of lives to the fierce gales which spent their fury in the state. Five deaths were reported in the now-isolated farming community of Alton, Ga., and three children and a teacher were killed in a Negro school near Monticello, Ga.

SEIZE CROATIAN GROUP RECORDS

FBI Agents Round Up Data In 6 Ohio Cities; Nazi Propaganda Suspected.

CLEVELAND—All records and documents of two Croatian organizations in six northern Ohio towns are being held by the federal bureau of investigation for grand jury action. Subpoenas have been issued for four Akron men.

Lee V. Boardman, FBI agent in charge at Cleveland, said the seizures were made on the Croatian Home Defenders, also known as Donobroni, and on the Croatian National Representation for the Independence of Croatia.

The seizures, part of a nationwide move yesterday, were made in Youngstown, Akron, Warren, Barberton, Campbell and Cleveland. The records were seized by the attorney general's office after subpoenas were issued by the attorney general for such records to be brought immediately before a federal grand jury.

Although no arrests were made, subpoenas named Frank Budac, national treasurer of Donobroni; Dr. Joseph Skofec, Rudolph Eric and Marko, Kralek, all Akronites and officers of Donobroni.

Croatian-American leaders here said they knew of no active chapters of either organization in Cleveland but some of their former members are reported to be operating under other names. Since Croatia has become a Nazi puppet state, the department of justice said some officials of the Croatian society apparently were sources of Nazi propaganda.

FBI officials reported simultaneous raids were made in Pittsburgh, where the two clubs have national offices, and in 15 other cities.

CENSORSHIP CLAMPED ON TALKS BY ALL GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON—The White House, it was learned today, has clamped a war-time censorship on all speeches to be made henceforth by officials of the federal government, including such leading spokesmen as Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of the Navy Knox, and Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

In a memorandum to members of the cabinet and all government departments, bureaus and agencies, the White House directed that all speeches be submitted "for clearance well in advance" of delivery to Archibald MacLeish, poet, head of the library of congress, and now director of the office of facts and figures.

MacLeish, 50-year-old graduate of Yale and Harvard, was appointed congressional librarian in 1939, and recently was made head of the newly created O. F. T., charged with gathering and disseminating "the truth about the war."

Before entering government service, he was noted as a poet and author, winning the $1,000 Pulitzer poetry prize in 1932 with a work entitled "The Conquistador."

MacLeish's blue-pencil powers over all government officials, excluding only President Roosevelt, were conveyed in a letter written by Stephen T. Eariy, press secretary to the president, and obviously at the president's direction.

Early pointed out to all government officials that the censorship had been imposed because "it is recognized that the war has brought increased responsibilities to high government officers, and that public statements by them, including radio speeches, should be subjected to more careful scrutiny than has been the custom in peace time."

TWO KILLED AS AVALANCHE SWEEPS HILLS

Red Cross Acts After Stream Of Earth 6 to 20 Feet Deep Breaks Loose.

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO—Glaciers of mud oozed over San Francisco hillsides today, toppling houses, trees and telegraph poles and adding to the misery brought by floods and storms to northern California.

One woman was buried alive when a rain-beaten bank collapsed and dropped an avalanche of mud on her home. A 16-year-old girl, Murial Swanfelt, was killed when a similar mass overturned her home at nearby Fairfax.

The most serious mud slide broke from the side of Mount Davidson, a 900-foot hill in the center of the city. Five small stucco houses on the side of the hill were torn from their foundations.

Lava-like in consistency and color, the stream of earth ranged in depth from 6 to 20 feet as it flowed from a small canyon over the houses. Only five houses stood directly in its path and then the stream veered down Foerster street. Many houses across the street escaped without serious damage.

The Red Cross called the mud avalanche a "major disaster" and prepared to move five families from other houses threatened by the slide. The stream, carrying telephone poles, bathtubs, timbers, household utensils and street signs along Foerster street, had covered approximately a half mile today, moving at a rate of 400 feet an hour.

A smaller slide destroyed two houses and damaged two others in the Stanford Heights district a mile from Mount Davidson. Mrs. Dora Kammer, 65, was killed in her home and her brother-in-law, Thomas Hill, 55, narrowly escaped death.

A hillside bank collapsed and the resulting river of mud uprooted an eucalyptus tree, which crushed Mrs. Kammer's house.

No others were reported injured seriously either in the Davidson hill or Stanford Heights slide.

The mud avalanches were blamed on heavy rainfall which has pounded northern California almost continuously for 15 days.

E. H. Fletcher, federal meteorologist at Sacramento, announced that "a flood of serious proportions" was developing in the Sacramento river valley.

At Chico, John Runyan, 47, a railroad worker, was drowned attempting to clear driftwood from beneath a bridge. At Healdsburg, George Coster, 76, was drowned when he tried to walk through a flooded lumberyard.

There were "flash floods" in many communities across the bay from San Francisco, but the Napa and Russian rivers were receding today after they had inundated the towns of Napa, St. Helena, Calistoga and Yountville.

German Sailors Escape Detention Camp, Recaptured

EL PASO, Tex.—(U.S.)—Nine German sailors today were revealed to have escaped from a detention camp in New Mexico, but they are already back in custody and will be returned soon to their New Mexico quarters.

A terse announcement from Grove C. Wilmoth, U. S. Immigration director for the El Paso district, disclosed the capture of the fugitive Nazis. They are to be returned "as soon as a fence can be constructed around the camp," Wilmoth said.

Details concerning the seamen and their escape were withheld, but officers indicated that all of them were from the scuttled liner Columbus and that they were trying to get across the border into Mexico when caught.

Temporarily, they are being held in jail.

GEN. JOHNSON: Mud Glacier Hits San Francisco Homes

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON
NEW YORK—There happened recently a domestic event which, because of the hurricane of other earth-shaking news, passed with very little comment. It was the choice by each of our two great amalgamations of international labor unions—AFL and CIO of a committee or panel of three each to meet and settle disputes between them by majority vote if possible. It almost never is.

Boards composed of an equal number of representatives of hotly divergent interests usually split evenly. Therefore they have to have an odd number of members with a deciding vote. Disregarding the window dressing of boards and conferences, the practical effect of this is to bypass both groups, putting decisions pretty thoroughly in one-man control of the odd member—at least on disrupted points between the groups.

In this case the odd member is very odd indeed, at least so far as traditional labor precedent is concerned. For he happens to be none other than the president of the United States.

Thus, to some extent at least, one of two things has happened—either the free labor movement has taken over the political government of the United States or the political government has taken over the free labor movement.

The former alternative might sound absurd if it were not that each one of these labor groups claims upwards of four million members representing forty to fifty million voters which is a right smart mess of voters in any man's book, even if they don't always follow labor leadership in voting.

But it is the former interpretation—that government has taken the last word in labor control—that is most logical and likely.

Now that, to a much greater degree, is exactly what happened to labor organizations in both Germany and Russia and it is exactly what was never to happen here according to rule number one in labor's book of golden precepts. Both the Russian and the German revolutions started out as more militant labor movements.

But, in both cases, the great labor leaders turned out to be like Huey Long's "scrooch"—not "scrooch"—owl to Huey Long's hen. It cuddled up silently in a cold dark night to Huey's hen on the warm roost and kept scrooching over and scrooching over until "poor soon there warn't no hen."

This scrooching up has gone nowhere near as far as that but it is a record-breaking precedent. Also everybody knows that it was intended, in the first instance far more as a very clever move to circumvent John Lewis and take away from him the great CIO organization which he avanted and built than as a move to cement and strengthen personal political power.

Just the same the fateful move was made and the result—unexpected and, unprecedented in this country, stands. Direction of organized labor, at least on matters where neither half can agree with the other by a majority vote of that half, now will have its doubts resolved for it by the all-powerful voice of a single man.

Labor has always, perhaps not always with sufficient reason, boasted of its own democracy of self-government. At least half of it—either half as circumstances may appear—can't honestly make that boast any more. It has chosen for itself a very astute and charming czar.

And so, in another aspect of our war to save democracy we have given up democracy on almost exactly the formula of the totalitarian states.

TANKER TRIES TO RAM SUB IN COAST WATERS

Ship's Captain Tells About Pursuing Craft For Forty-five Minutes.

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK—An attempt by a huge unarmed tanker to ram an enemy submarine off Cape Hatteras was revealed today by Captain Einar Gleditsch, master of the ship.

Captain Gleditsch, speaking with permission of the navy department, said his ship, the Kosmos II, a former whaler, chased the submarine for forty-five minutes but that the U-boat finally escaped.

First warning that a submarine was in the vicinity was received by the Kosmos at 6 a. m. January 19. Captain Gleditsch said, when the radio picked up an "SOS" distress signal.

"You know that we have orders that when a ship is attacked we can't help her. We must go away from the attack.

"I saw the track (wake) of a submarine cutting across our course. It was then that we decided to go for him. The submarine tried to dive, then came up. We saw his bow and the conning tower was two or three feet above water. She was only about 500 feet away. The sub started zigzagging. We followed as best we could.

"Well we followed her for three quarters of an hour. Meanwhile I sent a radio message ashore and got answers from Europe and other places. Finally I was afraid she was leading us to another sub so I returned to our regular course."

Captain Gleditsch said a plane took up the hunt for the sub after he had been forced to turn away.

LOSE HOPE FOR SURVIVORS
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(U.S.)—Hope for rescue of 26 missing crew members of the torpedoed tanker India Arrow diminished today.

Eleven crewmen and Capt. Carl S. Johnson, who were brought here early yesterday by a fishing boat after drifting 34 hours in an open lifeboat, almost within sight of land, left the coast guard station here for New York today.

The India Arrow, owned by the Sococo-Vacuum Oil company was torpedoed and shelled approximately 35 miles southeast of Atlantic City Wednesday night. The survivors were picked up in the one lifeboat launched from the sinking ship.

STORMS KILL 18
Tornadoic Winds Sweep Across Southern States.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—A death toll of at least 18 persons today was feared likely to prove heavier as relief agencies supplied food and shelter to hundreds of Southland families in the wake of tornadoic winds.

The winds, which in some cases reached 100-mile-an-hour intensity, levelled buildings and uprooted trees over a patchwork area including parts of Georgia, Arkansas, Alabama and Mississippi. Tennessee also had high winds, but reported no deaths.

Georgia paid the heaviest toll of lives to the fierce gales which spent their fury in the state. Five deaths were reported in the now isolated farming community of Alvin, Ga., and three children and a teacher were killed in a Negro school near Monticello, Ga.

SEIZE CROATIAN GROUP RECORDS

FBI Agents Round Up Data In 6 Ohio Cities; Nazi Propaganda Suspected.

CLEVELAND—All records and documents of two Croatian organizations in six northern Ohio towns are being held by the federal bureau of investigation for grand jury action. Subpoenas have been issued for four Akron men.

Lee V. Boardman, FBI agent in charge at Cleveland, said the seizures were made on the Croatian Home Defenders, also known as Domobran, and on the Croatian National Representation for the Independence of Croatia.

The seizures, part of a nationwide move yesterday, were made in Youngstown, Akron, Warren, Barberton, Campbell and Cleveland. The records were taken after subpoenas were issued by the attorney general for such records to be brought immediately before a federal grand jury.

Although no arrests were made, subpoenas, named Frank Budac, national treasurer of Domobran; Dr. Joseph Skofec, Rudolph Eric, and Marko Tkalec, all Akronites and officers of Domobran.

Croatian-American leaders here said they knew of no active chapters of either organization in Cleveland but some of their former members are reported to be operating under other names. Since Croatia has become a Nazi puppet state, the department of justice said some officials of the Croatian societies apparently were sources of Nazi propaganda.

FBI officials reported simultaneous raids were made in Pittsburgh, where the two clubs have national offices, and in 15 other cities.

JAP GUNS SHELL CIVILIAN AREA OF SINGAPORE

British Reply With Heavy Barrage Against Johore Invasion Fleet.

civilian guards worked in relays to strengthen defenses in the belief that the direct attack on the besieged island might start now at any time.

Everyone recognizes that the situation is serious but the defenses are getting stronger each hour and the Japanese are already suffering under the bombardment of the deadly accurate British guns which are blasting their battery positions all along the Johore shore.

Fails To Meet Dominion Demand

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Creation of a joint American-British military high command does not meet demands of the British dominions in the Far East for a general war council, informed diplomatic sources said today.

Only Great Britain and the United States are represented on the new military and naval high command which will devise the grand strategy in the war against the Axis. Australia and New Zealand have demanded that a Pacific war council be set up in Washington with representatives from all countries involved in the eastern war.

China and The Netherlands East Indies have remained quiet on the issue, but both favor the greatest possible cooperation. The Netherlands foreign minister, Eelco Van Kleffens, is here conferring with Dr. Hubertus Van Mook, lieutenant governor general of the Indies, and with other officials. Van Kleffens and Van Mook may confer with President Roosevelt today about the allied position in the Far East.

The war department said the new high command was established to insure complete coordination of the war effort between Great Britain and the United States, including the production and distribution of war supplies.

Russians Claim New Smolensk Advance

MOSCOW — (UP) — New Russian advances on the Leningrad front, where 53 German strongholds were overwhelmed, and on the central front before Smolensk, were announced by Soviet authorities today.

Outside Leningrad the Germans were driven back after leaving 900 dead on the battlefield. It was stated, while the Red army forces on the central front pushed closer to strategic Smolensk over fierce Nazi opposition.

According to the Soviet mid-night war communique, four German infantry battalions were "partly annihilated" on the Leningrad front. In this sector the Russians threw the Germans out of eight armored forts and 45 block houses, capturing huge quantities of material.

Violent fighting was reported just east and west of Rzhev, northwest of Moscow, where Soviet infantrymen protected by heavy tanks were closing in on the German garrison despite a deluge of Nazi artillery and machine gun fire.

The advancing Russians were reported capturing enemy pillboxes one by one. Farther south the Russians were declared to be advancing toward Smolensk in the face of desperate German counter-attacks.

Destroy Two More Jap Craft At Rangoon

NEW YORK — (UP) — Another Japanese air raid on Rangoon, during which two enemy planes were shot down and another two destroyed, was announced today by the All-India radio in a broadcast heard by CBS.

This brings confirmed enemy losses over Rangoon to 122 planes, the radio said, while American and British losses are five planes destroyed and one damaged.

Campaign on to Save Oregon's Praying Tree

PORTLAND, Ore. — (UP) — Even the Aluminum Company of America's new armament plant will yield to Oregon's praying tree and the tree will become a national monument if efforts of Portland nature lovers and Oregon congressmen are successful.

The tree, believed to be 80 years old, is on land bought for a $12,000,000 aluminum reduction plant near Portland. Seemingly to kneel as if in prayer, the aged oak is believed to be situated where it would not hamper plant construction.

Several American Legion posts are reported attempting to have the tree set aside as a memorial to Joyce Kilmer, poet who was killed in the World war. Congressman Homer D. Angell and Senator Rufus C. Holman have promised to intercede with the Defense Plant Corporation to have the oak and its immediate environs set aside as a national monument.

Jobs for First Lady's Friends

Change In Time Puzzle to City, County Employees

highways departments, the sewers and waterworks units, will wait a few weeks before starting on the new schedule.

The health department, according to Dr. William B. Wild, city county health commissioner, will open at 8 a. m. daily rather than 8:30 a. m. as before.

Dr. Wild explained that the changing of the opening of school from 8:30 to 9 a. m. had necessitated the revision of the health department schedule. The nurses working at the schools, must be at the school an hour before classes start in order to be prepared for the day's work, he explained.

Pupils in the Madison township district will start classes at 9:30 a. m. rather than at 9 a. m. as at present, Supl. Olan La Rue said that unless the change were made, the students would have to be awakened while it was still dark so that buses could carry them to central schools.

The only suggestion made to clear up the confusion is this. Just set your clock ahead one hour when you go to bed Sunday night and then forget the whole thing!

Cross-Examination Fails To Shake Girl's Testimony.

NEW YORK — (UP) — Trial of seven alleged Nazi spies in federal court paused for the week end today following completion of cross-examination of Lucy Boehmler, 18-year-old confessed Hitler agent.

Miss Boehmler was the chief witness of the government against the seven and two days of grilling cross examination failed to shake her story. She implicated all seven defendants, including Kurt Frederick Ludwig, alleged brains of the ring in the plot to supply Germany with military information.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—or, on second thought, why drive at all?

It appears that the vest is being considered as an article of clothing, rather than as a filing cabinet.

With all the electrical gadgets on pinball machines, there is none to flash a warning, "Save enough to pay your income tax."

Changing Over To War Time

EXCEPT for those who choose to make it difficult by non-conformance, Monday's change to "War time" will be a simple matter—requiring no more thought or effort than turning clocks and watches an hour AHEAD before retiring tomorrow (Sunday) night.

Then, while you are asleep, an hour is lost, and Monday will be a day of 23 hours instead of the customary 24—but don't worry about this, for, sometime after the war ends there'll be a 25-hour day to even things up.

Simplified even further, if you are in the habit of retiring at 11 o'clock just remember that tomorrow night it will be theoretically 11 when the clock hands point to 10, and that all you have to do is to advance clocks and watches to 11—and go to bed. Never mind about the alarm—if any—leave that as it is.

So, for example, if the alarm is set for 7 a. m., it will ring at 7—and nothing will be gained by thinking that it's only 6, or complaining about how dark it is—you'll have had the usual amount of sleep (if horn-honkers or locomotive-whistle blowers haven't interrupted it), and it should be no more difficult to get up and dress than it has always been in the past.

But if you want to complicate the thing, like saying schools will start a half hour later so they'll start only a half hour earlier instead of an hour earlier, or if you figure that you shouldn't go to work until 9 o'clock in the morning, because 8 is 7, you'll be in for considerable confusion—all of which can be avoided by setting clocks and watches an hour ahead tomorrow night, and letting it go at that.

School Controversy In Butler

PARTICIPANTS in the disturbance and acts of violence that marked a Butler public school controversy this week may not realize that this episode has attracted nation-wide unfavorable attention to their village, as the story was carried on press wires throughout the country.

The theory of democracy, as practiced in the United States, and in its various units, is that people are capable of self-government and that they will voluntarily conform to orderly processes of law.

Public schools play an important part in preparing children to assume the duties and responsibilities of citizenship and the people of a community pay heavily in taxes to provide and maintain schools.

Methods of school management are prescribed by law and authority is given certain elective and appointive officials to supervise school operations in an orderly and legal manner.

Without entering into the merits of the Butler school controversy, which is properly a matter for official investigation and action, it may be pointed out that pupils have at no time been authorized by law to assume the management of school operations or to absent themselves from school sessions because of opposition to official action.

In this mention the word "strike" is intentionally avoided for the reason that such action by school children is more properly classed as a rebellion against constituted authority, which is ordinarily lacking in suspension of work commonly designated as a "strike."

Persons who are inclined to adversely criticize the American form of government and to harp on the "failure of democracy" will be much pleased to read of the Butler episode as this seems to strengthen their contention that people are not capable of self government and should be ruled by a dictator.

It also appears timely to recommend for reading by Butler school children, and participants in acts of violence in the neighboring village, an article entitled "Education for Death," in the February issue of the Reader's Digest. This explains educational methods in Nazi Germany under the Hitler regime. They are quite different from those to which American children are accustomed.

Carelessness at School Intersection

A MANSFIELD motorist tells of an incident that occurred at the corner of West Fourth and Bowman streets last Wednesday morning which emphasizes the importance of keeping cars under perfect control while driving through school zones—and also the danger of making either right or left turns at crossings where school children have the right of way.

As related by the observer, the driver of a car, southbound on Bowman street, disregarded the icy pavement, hurried to "make the light" and turn west on Fourth, skidded to crosswise in the street, and required several school children who were "crossing on the red light" to jump out of the way to escape being struck.

This motorist suggests: "If there is no ordinance prohibiting turns at school intersections while children are assembling or leaving school buildings, I really believe there should be one. I know turns are prohibited at school intersections in Canton and that city has had no school fatalities in sixteen years."

Russia's Place After the War

THERE is still some worry over whether Russia should be accepted into the family of United Nations after defeat of the Axis powers, although quibbling has stopped on the subject of wartime alignment with Russia in battling Hitler and his totalitarian associates.

The attitude of worriers seems to be, "It may be all right for us to work with Stalin now, but what about the future?"

Julian Huxley, distinguished British scientist now in this country, makes the following comment about that. Some form of Communism will survive in Russia, he says, but he doesn't expect to see anything like full-fledged Communism.

The original Russian system has changed much and will be further modified. He finds Americans and Russians not so far apart as some people think. "Clearly we're getting more national and putting more stress on the individual." So he regards any general security plan that bars Russian participation as "unrealistic."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Phil Baker, pausing between attacks upon his income tax report, was discussing embarrassing moments. In twenty-five years of show business, he believes a little scene he and Jack Benny shared comes close to being tops for unpredictable results.

That was the time Sid Grauman opened his million dollar theater—long before Baker or Benny had become radio stars. Grauman wanted them to make a joint entrance in an elevator that shot up out of a trap door. Preceding the comedians were to be several lavish production numbers involving scores of beautiful girls.

The rehearsals went along well, but the night before the show opened Enrico Caruso died, and Grauman decided upon a few changes in the show without telling Benny and Baker anything about them.

Grauman opened the theater in darkness, and twelve trumplers played "Taps" from the balcony, while the chorus girls, clad in white robes, appeared carrying tall candles singing "Nearer My God To Thee" and "They Needed a Songbird in Heaven So God Took Caruso Away."

Then came one minute of silence in tribute to the great opera singer.

Just then the trap door flew open and out shot Baker and Benny. . . . They had been booked for ten weeks. . . . But the show closed in one. Phil says he can still "feel" the terrible silence that greeted them when they made their appearance.

NEW YORK's cops pounce on panhandlers with ever increasing gusto. If you get caught mooching without a license, it's the jug. I know a writer who began paying more attention to the bottle than he did his typewriter, with the result that he acquired a local reputation as a lush, couldn't hold a job, and finally wound up by the cops for asking for dimes and quarters on the streets not so long ago. Undaunted, he sent this note to some of his newspaper friends: "I'm in the jug for panhandling and I'm out of cigars. How about sending me over a few." The boys took up a collection and sent him a carton of his favorite brand.

JOHN SELBY reports this little traffic sequence at high noon on a recent day. So many motorists were crowding the avenue that at this particular corner TWO traffic policemen were on duty.

Suddenly a pedestrian, weary of waiting for the light to change, thrust two fingers into his mouth and let out a piercing whistle. The two cops at once held up their hands and changed the traffic. Each thought the other had given a blast on his whistle.

The Truth Will Out.

Hardly any male who is older than 14 would mind being kissed by Dorothy Lamour.

But males of all ages will cheer at the rebellion staged by 4-year-old Gerry King, infantile paralysis victim who was a White House guest on President Roosevelt's birthday.

Dorothy, her lips wet with fresh lipstick, planted a kiss on Gerry's cheek. He socked her on the nose.

"Darling, you mustn't do that," she gushed and tried to kiss again.

"I don't want that red stuff on me," said Gerry and pushed her away.

Only a child could be so truthful.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Litvinoff Active As Press Agent

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

SPEAKING for John Bull, Winston Churchill has vigorously rubbed in the idea that the British, while unqualifiedly opposed to any sort of political unity involving their indorsement of Communism.

President Roosevelt, on the opposite hand has steered pretty clear of the subject ever since the Soviet folk have lined up as one of the United Nations.

Without in the least hinting at a criticism of Winston for the latter's outspokenness, it's understood he feels that, so far as he's concerned, silence relative to the different kinds of unity involved in the situation is more tactful than volubility would be just at present.

Now, I don't believe that even the most ardent anti-Communist suspects F. D. R. of the slightest sympathy with Moscow's governmental system and methods, except as they're employed to throw a crimp into the Nazis.

Nevertheless, I do hear some complaints that the Stalin regime is taking advantage of presidential reluctance to attempt considerable missionary work in the United States. That's making many converts isn't asserted, but of course, there always are a few susceptibles to any brand of propaganda, and the Communist-ans are extremely sensitive to their chipping.

What makes 'em particularly sore is that the Soviet embassy in Washington is the source of an "Information Bulletin" issued daily or oftener to the press of the country.

Propaganda, Too. These releases purport to be purely war news, which, as it has been good of late, from the United Nations' standpoint, is welcome.

They do, though, contain a bit of what's fairly describable as propaganda.

Illustratively, there was quite an eruption of it at the time of Moscow's recent gathering in commemoration of the death of Vladimir Lenin, the Soviet Republic's founder, 18 years ago.

It wasn't exactly a memorial, either. It was a glorification of Russian arms' victories over the Nazis, which was all right from the democracies' angle, since that was precisely what they wanted. The keynote of Moscow's publicity, however, was vociferous emphasis upon the "proven success" of Communism. That class, scattered far and wide throughout the land, got the Communist-ants'

Does Golden Rule Pay?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE GOLDEN RULE—doing unto the other fellow as you'd like to have him do unto you—does it really pay? Helping—giving—giving your faith and love, labor and hard cash—is it sensible? Or are you just letting yourself in for a lot of grief? You ask yourself—then hate yourself for asking.

How you once despised people who asked questions like that! Cowardly, miserable spirits who wondered if generosity paid. Never—you vowed—would you be like that. Never! Let others go warily if they wished—doling out faith and affection in niggardly bits.

YOU were going to live life on the grand scale—"do unto others" as you'd like to have them do unto you even though you ended in rags.

But now—you wonder. You think of the times you've been imposed upon, the people who've cheated you, actually betrayed you. Your mind travels over this strange, new un-American horde of parasites, beggars . . . thin, insatiable creatures without a gallant instinct in them, snatching, snarling.

How about them? Does it pay to love and trust—or even be kind—to such creatures? The cynics and sophisticates say you're a fool if you do. Are they, maybe.

NO, THEY'RE NOT!

The Golden Rule DOES pay—always has, always will. Love IS worth while. Faith in your fellow man is NOT a sentimental gesture or childish foolishness. Even if the other fellow takes advantage of your decency—fools or robs you. Even if the world sneers at you. KINDNESS STILL PAYS. LOVE IS STILL WORTH WHILE.

The other fellow may fail you—but love and faith and generosity will never fail you. Always they will enrich and beautify your life, making you stronger and wiser.

Give! For giving is the secret of living. You get out of life what you put into it—and nothing more.

But remember there is a rule for giving as there is for everything else. There is a right way that works and a way that doesn't.

Here, in one lovely verse, Mackintosh Black has caught the truth of—

"Give not with your hands, they might break, lifting mountains. Give not with your lips, shaping words like blue swords, or lanterns of silver, to fail. Give with your heart, like earth, the old giver. Not knowing what life shall come out of its wholeness, Thundering the white pear branches of Spring from its silent dark!"

"GIVE NOT WITH YOUR HANDS." So easy for a service of love to become a "mountain" of obligation. Then you hand in a check for gratitude as if it were the butcher bill! And nine times out of ten you're gyped—as you should be! For why should you make a commercial transaction out of service that should be a gallant adventure of the spirit?

"GIVE NOT WITH YOUR LIPS"—that's even trickier. Fine words, words—flashing like swords, flaming like lanterns—but this stuff for a hungry heart or bewildered brain. If you give words you'll get words in return—dividends of hot air! Mighty unsatisfactory to both giver and getter.

BUT IF YOU GIVE AS THE EARTH GIVES YOU WILL DISCOVER THE FINEST ADVENTURE, THE RICHEST OPPORTUNITY IN OUR HUMAN EXPERIENCE.

The earth does not haggle over its giving nor does it definite returns. The earth surrenders itself to life. Bestows its abundance without contract or condition. And for giving finds reward in—living. Winder, warmer life blossoms out of blackness—harvest after harvest—that is the earth's dividend. That will be yours if you have the courage to give.

No matter what may SEEM to be your return, no matter how you may SEEM to be tricked and betrayed—if you dare to give YOU WILL LIVE. And if you don't—you won't.

Summary of Week's Happenings

'Around Parity', Farm Price Aim, Wickard Agrees With Henderson

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

ONLY recently, members of the congressional farm bloc thought they had a powerful ally in Claude Wickard, one-time Indiana hog-farmer and now secretary of agriculture.

He had smiled when they demanded, and got, a clause in the price control bill which made it impossible to fix ceilings above farm prices until they rose 10% above parity.

(Parity is the price at which a farm product such as corn has the same purchasing power in terms of non-farm products such as shoes as it had in a base period such as 1909-14.)

Likewise Wickard had backed the amendment giving him veto power over any ruling of the price administrator affecting farm prices, even though this brought him into conflict with both Price Administrator Henderson and his boss, President Roosevelt.

Disillusionment Follows.

During the week, however, farm blocmen were souring on their supposed ally. Wickard disclosed that he had no intention of allowing most farm prices to rise up to 110% of parity. He could keep them from rising simply by dumping surplus stocks on the market whenever a price rise began.

It developed that he knew farm prices fluctuate every day. If ceilings were placed exactly at parity the prices which farmers got would necessarily average less than parity because of the fluctuations. Wickard disclosed that he thought "around parity" would be about right for farm prices as a whole.

Newsman learned that his department would use its powers to encourage farmers to produce more livestock, dairy and poultry products (needed for shipment abroad) by (1) allowing these prices to go somewhat above parity, and by (2) keeping feed prices down around 85% of parity.

A further jolt came to the farm bloc when Wickard and Henderson, supposedly hostile to each other, issued a joint statement saying they were in "complete agreement" that the cost of living should be stabilized.

When Egypt's cabinet, which was friendly to Britain, resigned during the week Britain's press blasted Farouk. The News Chronicle said the cabinet resigned in a quarrel with the king after Farouk "took offense" because he wasn't consulted when Egypt broke off relations with Vichy.

What Goes on Here! In a British-German air duel over the Mediterranean a British Sunderland plunged into the sea. A score of its crewmen crawled out, swam ashore to Libya. The unarmed airmen soon encountered an isolated party of several score of Italian soldiers who perfunctorily claimed them as prisoners.

Next day they met 20 Italian officers who were particularly eager to get toward their German allies. The whole group trudged along the desert for hours and soon became difficult to distinguish between captors and prisoners.

The RAF leaders insisted Ben-Ghazi had fallen into British hands. At first the Italians were skeptical, placed a bet. But when they became convinced they said—okay, then we'll be your prisoners!

A Premier: Nazi Version. Vidkun Quisling, a Norwegian, admires Adolf Hitler, a German, so much that he affects the Hitlerian haircomb. And he admires Hitlerism so much that he helped the Nazis knife his democratic fatherland in the back in April, 1940.

For the act the word Quisling came to be used synonymously with "traitor" among anti-Nazis. Nazis rewarded him by setting him up as a local fuhrer in Norway, but with the hard-boiled Reich's Commissioner Josef Terboven as the real boss.

Last week-end, the Germans set Quisling up as an "unimpeachably constitutional" premier. The ceremony took place in a fortress with the Gestapo and Quisling's storm troopers guarding all entrances. Within a few hours after the ceremony, huge fire broke out in both Oslo's east and west railroad stations.

Statistics of the Week. New York City's Health Commissioner Rice surveyed 224 restaurants and announced the conclusion that New Yorkers were leaving 2,500,000 pounds of sugar in the bottom of their tea and coffee cups each year. From this he calculated that the entire nation's wastage might reach 50,000,000 pounds. And he didn't take into consideration sugar wasted in other dishes such as cereal bowls.

The nation's girdle, brazier and corset makers assured women that the shortage of rubber did not mean mildy is going to be without support. New garments can be made with little or no rubber, they said. The corset and brazier industry did a $119,780,000 retail business last year, an all-time record.

MacArthur's Amazing Men. America has been in the war only two months. But in those two months her soldiers have already provided the world with two episodes that are among the most dramatic of a decade of wars—Wake Island and Batan. Fagged but still jaunty, General MacArthur's small forces continued to trade punches with Japan's huge, exasperated forces in mountainous Batan. Sometimes they countered Nipponese offensives with withering artillery fire, sometimes with quick counterattacks, and sometimes by making surprise thrusts at the opposite end of the line. On Tuesday a Japanese spokesman said that despite MacArthur's obstinacy, American-Filipino forces would soon be ousted.

Fleet Action. Despite all her other drives, Japan continued pushing down into the Dutch Indies. Troops were landed at the naval base of Ambona near Ceram. And the Dutch base of Soerabaja on Java was subjected to a damaging aerial assault.

America's Pacific fleet, meanwhile, answered anxious questions as to its whereabouts since Pearl Harbor by raiding Nipponese islands in the Marshall and Gilbert groups—Islands that flanked American supply routes to the combat areas and which were on the outer fringe of Japan's island possessions.

Farouk Under Fire. Egypt, oddly enough, is not actually at war with the Axis even though she is a military ally of Britain and even though the

Uncertain Destiny + + + + +

CHAPTER XXVIII
In her present state of mind, near hysteria after her scene with Brenda, the fearful Linda could not bear the thought of returning to the lonely, forsaken apartment. In cold despair, she hailed a cab and gave Diane's studio address. Huddled in a corner, Linda tried to repair the damage tears had wrought, but her efforts were unsuccessful. Her one thought was to reach Diane and pour out the entire story, to be comforted and understood, to find forgetfulness. The artist was hard at work on a sketch, but seeing the expression on Linda's face as she stumbled into the tiny studio, Diane rose quickly and put her arms around the girl's shaking shoulders. "What is it?" she asked anxiously. "You're white as a ghost, Linda. Aren't you feeling well?" "Feeling well?" Linda laughed hollowly. "I never felt better in my life! Why shouldn't I feel wonderful? I have everything anyone could want." Laughter bubbled up in her throat. Tears streamed unheeded down her cheeks. In vain Diane tried to quiet her. This was the maddening, frightening laughter of the hysterical, and Linda continued to laugh and cry alternately, until Diane, her face desperate with anxiety, raised her hand and struck the girl hard across both cheeks. Linda's laughter stopped. Weakly she groped her way to a chair and stared accusingly at Diane with tear-wet amber eyes. "You slapped me," she whispered hoarsely, her hand touching a red-denying cheek. "I'm sorry," Diane said anxiously. "You were hysterical. I was afraid—"

Suddenly Linda buried her face in her hands, and sobbed. "Diane, do you hate me very much?" "Why should I?" Diane was taken back by Linda's sorrow. "But I've been such a trial to you Diane. I've been thoughtless of everyone—Mother and Dad, Kyle, and now I'm ruining your life—letting Greg fall in love with me, leading him on, when all the time—"

Linda stopped. Would it be wise to tell Diane that Greg occupied only a small place in her schemes to release Steve from his unhappy marriage? Diane had apparently not noticed Linda's hesitancy. Gently she said, "Nothing Greg does means anything to me anymore. I haven't seen him for weeks. It—it ended when he came back from South America and I saw him as he really was."

How familiar that was to Linda, for she had experienced the same emotion. Yet, was it the same? She had realized it was Steve she loved, but Diane had always loved Greg.

MANY contracts would be easy to make if you could have the lead be wherever you want it at various crucial moments. But unfortunately the laws do not allow you to lead out of the wrong hand and get away with it. As a consequence, you sometimes have to feign to the limit in order to have it be at the right place at the right time. Even such devices as discarding a perfectly good ace may be necessary—if you can think of them.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON
"I wonder who that can be!" I said, springing up and going toward the door. But I paused before I reached it for an apologetic word to my visitor. "I am so sorry, Steve," I said. "I promised you would not have to see anyone. I know how much of your time is wasted on casual acquaintances who are always underfoot, but I really expected no one for this hour."

"It doesn't matter in the least," he assured me promptly. Then he hesitated, with a wary eye on the door. "It couldn't possibly be Mary and Noel, could it?" he asked uneasily. "Not a chance in the world," I assured him. "I fancy they're as far away as they can get and leave a safe margin of time to return to the theater promptly."

Offers To Leave.
"Mary never would risk being late," he said. "But don't you think I would better go?" "Wait until you see who it is," I murmured, turning the knob of the door. And then I registered apparently great surprise as the opening door disclosed Olina standing in the hall. "Olina, dear!" I exclaimed enthusiastically. "I am so glad to see you. Come in!" But she hesitated with clever artistry, looking uncertainly at me. "I'm afraid I'm disturbing you," she said. "I didn't know you were in conference."

"I'm not," I said. "Steve simply dropped in to consult me on a point in his role that was troubling him."

"Hello, Olina!" he said. "The gracious lady here has straightened out the problem, so if you want to see her alone, I'll vanish."

Olina Acts A Part.
There was something in his voice which told me he thought no woman in possession of her senses would banish him, and Olina, acting I knew in compliance with our compact, did nothing to deflate him. "What nonsense!" she said. "I shall be most grateful if you go on my account. Do sit down again." I had put her into a chair and seated myself again. Steve had remained standing as if irresolute but, I knew, all prepared to be persuaded to remain, and at Olina's adjuration he flashed his most devastating smile at her. "How could I refuse you?" he murmured, and disposed his long, lithe figure in his chair again, while Olina turned with pretty grace to me. "It's a shame to bother you, Aunt Madge," she said, "but I received the queerest letter today, absolutely the oddest one I've had so far, and Mama said I simply must show it to you."

"I shall be very glad to see it," I told her, and Steve sounded an interested query. "Do you get much fan mail, Olina?" he asked. "That depends," she answered. "When compared to Mary's—or yours—I get very few letters. But they really mount up, and—what is most encouraging—the number is constantly growing."

"Wait until you get on the radio," he said encouragingly, and without the touch of patronage that usually invests his conversation with less experienced and prominent players. "Then they'll roll in by the wheelbarrow. You're a wizard with a harp, and radio listeners always fall hard for good harp music. You've had offers, I understand."

Olina chilled a little at the impertinence, for such she and I knew it to be. "Yes, I have," she said a bit shortly, "but it doesn't do me any good, for my stepfather will not consent to my accepting any radio offer. He says it will be too much for me physically; that I either would have to give up my place in the play or on the air."

"You don't have to decide it now," I said comfortingly. "Show us your fan letter. You've roused my curiosity."

She drew a large square envelope from a leather letter case she had brought with her, and held it out to me. "Just open that and see what you think of it," she said. "It has me completely puzzled."

CONDUCTS NEW DRAWING CLASS

Ashland College to Repeat Course in Engineering Drawing Soon.

ASHLAND — With industry clamoring for workmen who know something of engineering drawing, Ashland college has decided to repeat a course conducted on the subject.

The course, at the college level and carrying four hours of college credit, will be open to high school graduates with solid geometry or by permission of the instructor, Dr. Paul K. Taylor.

"One has but to look at the classified columns of the newspapers to realize that the demand for trained people in this field is enormous," he said.

The class will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings at 6:45 in Founders Hall and will continue for three hours each evening.

"It is an opportunity for those who are liable to be effected by industrial dislocation to prepare themselves for other and perhaps more lucrative employment," Dean R. E. Hays said in urging those in the vicinity to avail themselves of this chance.

"Educational opportunities such as may never again appear are now available to those interested in self improvement and better training for the future," was the opinion of Dr. E. G. Mason, president of the college.

Applications for enrollment in the course will be received up to and during the first meeting of the class.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Two books, both with Chinese background, are included among the new stories in the children's department of the Mansfield Public Library. One is a story of mystery and adventure that will appeal to older boys while the other may be enjoyed by children of all ages because of its variety of stories.

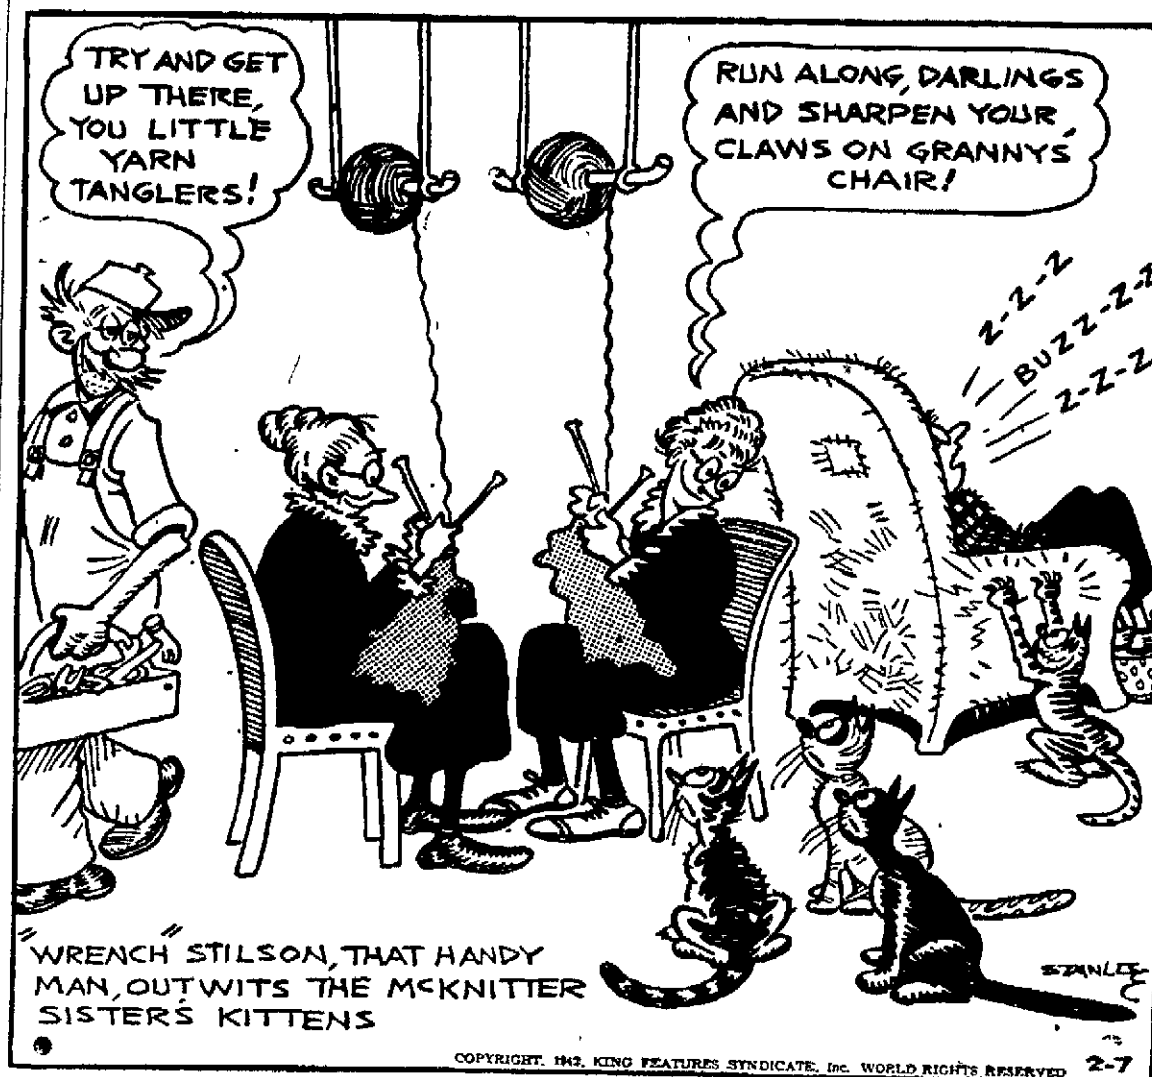

WHAMPOA, by Hawthorne Daniel—When Mr. Martin learned of the loss of the Powhatan and Captain Caleb Hamilton during that ship's last voyage to China he knew he would have to go to China soon to investigate. When he decided to take his son, Jack, and Captain Hamilton's son, Tom, with him the action began for them because there was the long voyage to make around Cape Horn and in China there were the clues of the Powhatan and the kidnappings and secret messages complicating the task to the end.

TREASURES LONG HIDDEN, by Arthur Bowie Chismman—This new collection of fairy tales takes its name from one of the stories but it is well-chosen because these stories have been gathered from the very families in China which they have been preserved for generations. This book promises to become a favorite along with the other two similar books this author has already published.

John Wolfe, Shirley Woolf, Robert Wyllie, Rita Ann Young, Elaine Zellner and Mary Zirkel.

H. C. Mayer, works' manager of the company, and Aaron Waines, Jr., another employee, both of Shelby, were named to succeed George E. Ritchey, Jr., and A. H. Goldman, both of Cleveland.

Officers re-elected were Edwin Mansfield of Mansfield, chairman of the board; W. C. Connelly of Cleveland, president and general manager; W. W. Van Horn of Shelby, vice president; E. W. McNeill of Shelby, secretary-treasurer; and C. S. Waters, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Directors re-elected were Connelly, Mansfield, Van Horn, J. A. Anderson, E. W. McNeill, R. T. Green and C. C. Fish, all of Shelby.

Reports made at the meeting showed that the company had a net profit of $763,540.17 for the new fiscal period of eleven months ending Nov. 30, 1941, compared with $497,863.83 for the full year of 1940.

The company distributed three dividends on common stock aggregating $1.60 per share during the 11-month period and paid a fourth dividend of $1 per share on Dec. 15 making total dividend of $2.60 per share during calendar year of 1941.

The net sales for the fiscal period of 1941 were substantially greater than during the same period of 1940. The increase was due largely to the defense program. The company is one of the largest manufacturers of airplane tubing and has some 1,000 employees working around the clock, seven days a week.

THEATERS

Swashbuckling Role.

In the same spot where his father before him played similar swashbuckling roles Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., enacted his part in "The Corsican Brothers," filmization of Alexander Dumas' thrilling novel now showing at the Ohio. Fairbanks plays a dual role, that of two brothers who seek revenge for wrongs done their family years before. One is a gallant and dashing figure and the other has a deep and forbidding personality. Spectacular scenes of swordplay and dancing embellish the film which has Ruth Warwick and Akim Tamiroff in the supporting cast.

Gay Comedy.

"Two-Faced Woman" returns Greta Garbo to the Madison screen today in a dual role. Appearing opposite Melvyn Douglas she plays the part of Douglas' wife, an individual more concerned with skiing than with her personal appearance. She blossoms out however when she accidentally meets her husband under unusual circumstances and is forced to pose as her own twin sister to ease the situation. The cast includes Constance Bennett, Roland Young, Robert Sterling and Ruth Gordon. A new leading lady, Ann Ayars, is introduced in "Dr. Kildare's Victory," the second attraction.

Mystery Drama.

"Close Call for Ellery Queen," featuring William Gargan and Margaret Lindsay, is showing at the Majestic. Tim Holt's stinging production, "Land of the Open Range," is the co-feature.

Swarms of locusts have been observed at sea one thousand miles from land.

"Shadow of the Thin Man," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, opens Sunday at the Ritz. The picture presents the two stars as a dapper detective and his engaging wife who are forever trailing a murderer across the country. Jane Withers' picture, "Small Town Deb," is the second film.

Rolling Comedy.

Henry Fonda and Barbara Stanwyck are co-stars in the rollicking comedy, "You Belong to Me," showing at the Park. Miss Stanwyck has the part of a young woman physician who weds a playboy only to find that he is playing havoc with her profession. Fonda plays the husband who is inordinately jealous of his wife's career. Others in the cast are Ruth Donnelly and Melville Cooper. "Week-End for Three," the second picture, features Dennis O'Keefe, Jane Wyatt and Philip Reed in a story based on happenings at a house party.

Initial War Labor Meet Ends on 'Peace' Note

This handshake between AFL President William Green (left) and CIO President Philip Murray, as they prepared to leave the White House after the initial meeting of the war labor board apparently indicates that there will be "peace" between the rival labor organizations for the war's duration. Anna Rosenberg, a member of the war labor board, looks on.

Jackets Tune Up For Tilt

Swamp Galion 61-37, Meet Tygers Tonight.

MT. Vernon's Yellow Jackets turned up for tonight's cage fracas with Mansfield High's Tygers at Senior high gym by swapping Galion last night on the Jacket, court 61-37.

Sharpshooting Pete Ransom paced the Jackets with 16 points on eight buckets, while no less than 10 of the Mt. Vernon hoopers broke into the scoring column.

Coach Myron Frech's tossers, who are tied for first place in the North Central Ohio league, lost no time in trotting out the victory wagon and climbing aboard. At the first quarter they were ahead 20-3, and they coasted in from there, making use of all the subs.

Other N. C. O. games last night saw Ashland romp over Shelby 42-28, and the homeless Marion Presidents edge Bucyrus 29-28.

When the Tygers take the floor against the Jackets tonight, they'll be making their first appearance before the home fans since Jan. 16 when they defeated New Philadelphia.

It will be the first game in which Mansfield fans have seen the Tygers performing without Jack Shiplet, stellar guard who graduated at mid-year.

Krupp and Robinson probably will start at the guards tonight with Dietzel at center and Winbiger and Hahn at forwards, but Coach Vern Hoffman may shift his players around to use Winbiger and Altamonte at guards during the game.

Michaels Hits Total of 640

Also Takes High Game In Moose Alley Loop.

Henry Michaels turned on the heat last night to pace with Moose bowling league with a 640 total at Colony alleys on a string of 231, 206-203 which included the league's high game.

In spite of Michaels' high score, his league-leading Pilgrims dropped a 1-2 decision to Prelates.

Harold Selby had a 622 total on 204-227-191, Ray Friday had 604, including a 225 game, and Johnny Leppo had 603 and a 217 game.

Editors and Trustees tied for high team total with 2642, and both scores were rolled without benefit of handicaps.

Pitcher Steve Gromek, former Mansfield Brave, yesterday signed his contract with the Cleveland Indians for 1942 along with Catcher Jim Hegan. Gromek won 14 games and lost two for Flint last season before joining the Indians. He appeared in nine big league games, and was credited with one victory and one defeat. Gromek played shortstop when he was with the Braves.

2 Ohio Cage Records Set

Game Played With 134 Points Being Scored.

(By Associated Press)

Two new scoring records were set by Ohio college basketball teams last night.

Marietta defeated Bowling Green at Marietta, 70 to 64, the combined score being the season's Ohio conference high, and Toledo smothered Youngstown, 88 to 32, to set a new Rocket field house mark.

Marietta and the Bee-Gees made a total of 134 points, approximately three and a half minutes. Center Bob Skipton of Marietta was high with 25 points, teammate Dick Meisler, a forward, was next with 22, and for the Bee-Gees, Guard Mike Kish tossed in 21.

Toledo's previous record was 84 points, scored against Adrian, Mich., in 1937. Center Bob Gerber was the sparkplug of the Rocket attack, registering 14 field goals and one free throw for 29 points.

Early in the season, Findlay college traveled to Springfield and whipped Wittenberg, 47 to 35. Last night Wittenberg avenged the defeat at Findlay, playing the home team, 61 to 49, in an Ohio conference game. In the last six minutes the visitors put on a scoring spree that earned them 15 points against two for Findlay.

Miami university failed to get revenge for an early season defeat administered by Ohio university. The Hawks repeated again at Oxford, 44 to 30. The lead changed three times in the first half but in the last frame the Bobcats pulled away. With two minutes to go, the Redskins narrowed the score to 40-38 but a pair of free throws and a short field goal pulled the Bobcats out of danger.

Michigan State outdistanced Cincinnati, 36-30. John Carroll defeated Ashland, 56 to 35, in an Ohio conference game at Cleveland. Akron's Zippers won their 10th game in 12 starts at Akron by swamping Heidelberg, 57 to 30.

Al Fendrick and his Madison Rams are getting pats on the back these days from Ashland for their share in the infantile paralysis benefit fund basketball show of last Tuesday evening.

The Rams charged the Ashland show just one buck for traveling expenses, and donated their services, if playing a basketball game can be called services.

One buck for taking a basketball team from Madison to Ashland! That's making a dollar go a long way.

Here's the way Bill McKee tells it in the Ashland Times-Gazette: "That Madison expense account is worthy of an item in itself. It is part of an excellent good will gesture by Coach Al Fendrick, the old Ashland second sacker, and the other authorities at the school on the hill this side of Mansfield."

"In just about 10 seconds flat they accepted the invitation to play in the benefit program to help out the polio fund in a county other than their own."

"And they held expenses to a practical zero and then brought along 150 fans to buy tickets."

Nig Murray of the Wooster Record rushes to the defense of Loudonville Coach Leo Grimes against any possible charges that the Red Birds were "pouring it on," in their recent 64-27 victory over Orrville.

Murray, who thinks the big score might be a Central Buckeye league record, points out that the Bird first team "cooled off on the bench the second half."

The Birds were high-flying that night, truly, and dive bombing.

P'or Orrville was Coventryzed.

These things will happen. But not too often, I hope.

Glenn Lanning, sr., knocked over nine straight strikes in the "B" league Thursday night, then spared in the tenth, for a 275 game.

AND DIDN'T GET ALL-AMERICAN MENTION on this page yesterday.

The score for some unexplained reason was overlooked.

Next time just bring it to my attention.

I'll see, for sure, he gets his mention.

Bellville Nips Ontario Club

Wins Although Stood Outscored by Elliott.

BELLVILLE — The fledgling Blue Jays proved last night that their early wins after a reform wave had swept the team were no fluke by tripping Ontario, 31 to 20.

The win brings Bellville's total number of victories to three for the season against three losses, all suffered before the greater part of the squad had pined in disgust and been replaced by frosh and reserves.

High scorer last night, however, was Ontario's Jack Elliott, who caught five baskets and three free throws for a total of 13 points. Bellville's George Stodt got four baskets and two free throws for 10 points.

After trailing, 9-6, at the quarter, the Jays took a one-point advantage, 12-11, at the half and increased their lead to 19-16 at the third quarter.

Bentley Scores Consistent Games

Bentley's 495 took top honors in the Barnes bowling league last night at Colony alleys as he rolled consistent games of 165-166-164. Rice had high game of 189.

Butler Holds League Lead, Downs Union

UNION — Butler high school continued its winning ways on the basketball floor last night despite a pupil strike which closed the school in a dispute over the tenure of the principal. The Bulldogs trimmed Union 27-24, and maintained their position at the top of the Richland county league standings with six wins and no losses.
